JOB DESCRIPTION

The Gender Standby Capacity Project (GenCap) was created in 2007 under the IASC framework, in collaboration with the Norwegian Refugee Council (NRC) and OCHA. Its goal is to facilitate and strengthen capacity and leadership within all sectors of humanitarian response to undertake and promote gender equality programming throughout the programme cycle. It aims at ensuring that humanitarian action at global, regional, and country levels takes into consideration the different needs and capabilities of women, girls, boys and men equally.

By investing in tailored inter-agency deployments in support of humanitarian operations, the Inter-Agency Gender Standby Capacity Project (GenCap) aims to reinforce leadership, programmes, capacity and localization strategies that ensure the centrality of gender equality in humanitarian operations.

GenCap predictably and rapidly deploys senior gender advisers (SGAs), as inter-agency resources, to reinforce the capacities of the humanitarian system to implement gender transformative humanitarian programming. Senior gender advisers support humanitarian leadership to develop and implement comprehensive gender equality strategies and clear accountability systems, in close coordination with the development and peacebuilding partners.

GenCap is a capacity development project. Its objectives are formulated around enhanced capacities within humanitarian teams. While Senior Gender Advisors may assist in developing specific strategic documents and analysis, their primary aim is strengthening the system of skills and accountabilities that will sustainably place gender equality at the centre of humanitarian operations. Their main task is not to “develop tools” or to “coordinate mechanisms”, it is to enable the humanitarian system to deliver on global commitments to gender equality. The SGAs enhances the robust and continued investment needed to advance women and girls’ empowerment and participation in decision-making at all levels of a humanitarian response and provide support to effective leadership to deliver on gender equality outcomes.

Under the direct supervision of the HC and in close collaboration with the HCT, the SGA works in partnership with the Inter-Cluster Coordination mechanisms and other inter-agency fora to improve the accountability of all humanitarian actors for the implementation of the IASC Policy on Gender Equality and Empowerment of Women and Girls in Humanitarian Action and its Accountability Framework.

The presence of a Senior Gender Adviser is not a replacement for the operations’ own commitment to move forward with global gender equality goals, including the need to ensure the humanitarian community has gender advisers available within the operation.
