Statement by Principals of the Inter-Agency Standing Committee (IASC)

RACISM AND RACIAL DISCRIMINATION IN THE HUMANITARIAN SECTOR

10 September 2020

Many of our staff have been affected directly or indirectly by manifestations of racism and racial discrimination. It is incumbent upon us to examine and address racism and racial discrimination within our own organizations and in the humanitarian sector, including by expanding diversity at all levels in our workplaces, and fostering more inclusive and diverse ways of working.

As member organizations and standing invitees of the Inter-Agency Standing Committee (IASC), as we work to tackle inequality and injustice in the context of humanitarian action, we must ensure that these human rights principles of equality and non-discrimination are fully realised within our own organisations. Specifically, we commit to:

- reaffirming our pledges to zero tolerance to racism and racial discrimination and committing to eliminating such behaviour within all humanitarian work environments and operations.
- working at all levels within and among our organizations to ensure we identify and address structural barriers to inclusion to eliminate all forms of racism and racial discrimination, including systemic and institutional racism.
- creating an environment where all colleagues feel safe to speak about and report on incidents of racism and racial discrimination without fear of retaliation and ensuring that such reports and concerns are duly addressed.
- strengthening our actions, accountability and policies to foster diversity and inclusion and ensure zero tolerance for racial discrimination in the humanitarian workforce.
- nurturing the inclusive environment necessary for a diverse workforce to flourish – this includes fostering a workplace that promotes, values and respects diversity.
- ensuring that all our staff are aware of their rights and comply with their responsibilities to ensure that humanitarian operations are free from racism and racial discrimination.
• enhancing principled partnership at all levels with agencies representing the diversity of our societies and supporting their role as principal change makers.

• ensuring that the IASC takes forward further actions during the next six months to address racism and racial discrimination at the workplace, as well as mitigating unconscious biases towards vulnerable populations and/or local partners.
